READING. Task #1

7_{/7} Question 26

Read the text and match the headings to each paragraph.

- (A)The more decisions you have to make, the worse their quality is. For example, Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg adheres to these opinions. For people who make important decisions about work every day, the removal of even the smallest item from this list such as the choice in the morning frees more time and space in the head for other thoughts.
- (B) We don't even imagine, how much time goes on choosing clothes, yet do not abandon this. Five years ago in Moscow, an experiment was conducted entitled "333"; over the course of 3 months it was necessary to wear just 33 items of clothing. The test subjects confirmed, that they were starting to save the lion's share of time, the morning became easier and quicker to get ready for work.
- (C) As noted by art director Matilda Kal from New York, by adhering to the capsule wardrobe, she is going through less clothes during the day. No more of these thoughts: It's too official? It's too revealing? "I almost always regretted what I wore, as soon as I approached the platform of the metro." But now, in the firm's branded white shirt, and black trousers, she has one less thing to worry about every day.
- (D) Famous producer Christopher Nolan follows this idea. He notes, that the energy demanded, is not just the selection of a large wardrobe, but the further servicing of it, guidance in it's order, analysis of things, washing etc. That which successful people would like to spend minimum time and energy.
- (E) Often, a large wardrobe doesn't mean that you wear everything in there. "Previously, my wardrobe was similar to a confectionary with the huge and overwhelming choice" shares one young mother "and most of my outfits I didn't like, I felt uncomfortable in them. But now, my capsule wardrobe it's like an elite restaurant. I have a smaller choice of options, but I'm sure, that each of them are ideal. I don't just look better, I feel better too".
- (F) Writer Alec Gregory from New York notes; "Wear one and the same thing every day it's a cult. It's a cheap and easy way to feel famous. One and the same suit reflects your maturity, stability, constant value. That's why heroes in children's movies always wear the same they're an example to follow, constant and reliable.
- (G) Frankly speaking, in our wardrobes there are many clothes that we don't even wear. And now consider, how much excess money is spent!
 - 1. A g. Less decisions.
 - 2. B d. Less expenditure of time.
 - 3. C a. Less stress.
 - 4. D c. Less wasted energy
 - 5. E e. Less, but better quality.
 - 6. F b. Cult status.
 - 7. G f. Less costs.
